

Free Alzheimer Program Open to Family Caregivers

Conversations About Dementia offers tips on how to have honest and caring dialog about some of the most difficult topics when you are caring for someone with memory problems.

The Alzheimer's Association is offering a program called Conversations about Dementia, Thursday, November 6 from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m., at St. Luke's Hospital, The White Home, 101 Page Street, New Bedford. The program is free and open to family and friends caring for someone with Alzheimer's or a related dementia.

Conversations About Dementia offers tips on how to have honest and caring dialog about some of the most difficult topics when you are caring for someone with memory problems. The program will cover having going to get a diagnosis or medical care, deciding when it is necessary to stop driving and making plans for managing finances and legal documents. To register or for more information call 800.272.3900.

The Alzheimer's Association, with headquarters in Watertown, has regional offices in Springfield, Raynham, and Worcester, MA and Bedford and Lebanon, NH. The Alzheimer Association provides services and programs for those with Alzheimer's, family and professional caregivers in the form of support groups, a 24/7 Helpline, care consultation, advocacy efforts, research funding and education programs. For more information about Alzheimer programs, visit www.alz.org/MANH or call 617.868.6720.
