

Man wearing “Apple Vision Pro” goggles at Boston Celtics game tries to steal the show in bizarre video

“Everyone look at me” was most definitely the goal of the man who was seen wearing the new Apple Vision Pro goggles court-side at the Boston Celtics game. Well, he absolutely accomplished his goal as videos are going viral on social media of just a bizarre display which we have never seen before.

“@Khalilforreal” is the name of the mans YouTube channel which he has since uploaded a vlog showing his point-of-view experience through the goggles, which is actually pretty cool to watch.

For those unaware, the Apple Vision Pro goggles are “Augmented Reality” goggles which is an interactive experience that combines computer-generated content with the real world. Essentially, you turn into a cyborg.

Checkout the video of the man at the Celtics game:

View this post on Instagram

A post shared by Barstool Sports (@barstoolsports)

If you're interested in more about the Apple Vision Pro goggles, check this out!