

Massachusetts man arrested for allegedly beating, threatening girlfriend at knifepoint

On April 9th, Falmouth Police responded to reports of a man allegedly striking a woman at a supermarket.

Upon arrival at the Stop & Shop parking lot on Teaticket Highway, police learned that an unidentified woman was being allegedly beaten his girlfriend and threatening her while brandishing a knife.

As a result, Steven M. Harris, 30, of Teaticket faces charges of assault and battery with serious bodily injury, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, assault and battery on a family or household member, vandalizing property, and threat to commit a crime.

Falmouth District Court photo.