City of New Bedford installs network of air quality sensors across city

"Exciting news for New Bedford! We've installed a new network of air quality sensors across the city to provide real-time, neighborhood-level data.

This initiative will help ensure cleaner air and support our transition to sustainable energy.

See full details here"-City of New Bedford.