

District Attorney Sam Sutter to Instruct Youth at FREE Tennis Clinic

On Saturday July 19th, Bristol County District Attorney Sam Sutter's office will conduct a free tennis clinic for area youth. The clinic will mark a total of 68 free youth sports clinic offered by District Attorney Sutter since the program's launch in 2007. To date, more than 4,500 total youth have been served.

The free tennis clinics are a collaboration between the District Attorney's Office and the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth Tennis Teams and Athletic Department. Participating youth will be instructed by District Attorney Sutter himself. Sutter played tennis while he was a student at Brown University and later played professionally and taught all over the world before heading back to the United States to attend law school. Sutter's father was also an elite-level professional, once ranked as third in the world. In addition to instruction by District Attorney Sutter, members of his office will be present to serve as mentors to youth in attendance.

District Attorney Sutter's free sports clinic program is managed by former Boston Red Sox pitcher, Brian Rose. Rose presently works for the District Attorney's Office in its Community Affairs Division acting as Volunteer Coordinator, Free Youth Sports Clinic Director, and Neighborhood Liaison.

Saturday's clinic will take place on Saturday July 19 at the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth tennis courts, located at 285 Old Westport Rd, North Dartmouth, MA 02747. Youth ages 6-9 should attend from 9:00am – 10:00am and youth ages 10-14 should attend from 10:15am – 11:15am. Participation is open to boys and girls. All levels welcome. No experience necessary. Equipment will be provided.
